

Making Tracks City

by HALL, ABI

Making Tracks City

Can lead to creative play relating to mark making - have a go at drawing the patterns you felt in the book!
The chunky format and large flaps encourage young children to use their fine motor skills to check who's hiding!
Each title is themed around a specific area, encouraging children to associate groups of animals with their habitats. With guidance, these books can help children to understand that animals are suited for the places where they live.
